

We are open for business

To Our Valued Customers,

As the states of emergencies and shelter-in-place orders concerning COVID-19 continue to impact our daily lives, Eco-Genesis Corporation remains open to provide essential services.

The health and safety of the community and our employees is always our top priority. Which is why we are committed to adhering to the guidelines of infection control and prevention industry best practices laid out by federal, state, local municipalities and departments of health. Protocols are in place to ensure proper PPE is utilized, and infection control and prevention training is provided to all our employees to ensure their proficiency, wellbeing and, above all, safety.

We are a locally owned small business and have been providing support to regional businesses, municipalities, and institutions for over 25 years. Our staff includes certified industrial hygienists (CIHs), infection preventionists (IP), licensed site professionals (LSPs), environmental professionals, and industrial hygienists with extensive experience. EGC is also an approved vendor on Massachusetts Statewide Contract PRF67 Designated DCAMM.

While the current environment can make it challenging at times to respond to requests, we prioritize assisting our existing clients and the local community and look forward to being in touch.
